

I am a fan of filmmaker Liz Marshall's previous film "Water On The Table".
I don't doubt that THE GHOSTS IN OUR MACHINE will be as important and well done.

THE GHOSTS IN OUR MACHINE

animals are hidden in the shadows of our highly mechanized world

Running Time: 92:00 mins
Director: Liz Marshall
Genre: Documentary
Featuring "Give Up The Ghost" by Radiohead

With the exception of our companion animals and a few wild and stray species within our urban environments, we experience animals daily only as the food, clothing, animal tested goods and entertainment we make of them. This moral dilemma is often hidden from our view.

Through the heart and photographic lens of international photographer Jo-Anne McArthur, we become intimately familiar with a cast of non-human animals. The film follows Jo-Anne over the course of a year as she photographs several animal stories in parts of Canada, the U.S. and in Europe. Each story is a window into global animal industries: Food, Fashion, Entertainment and Research.

The connection that I have to animals while I'm photographing them is one of empathy. There is a huge mistreatment and inequality between human and non-human animals, and that's always in the forefront of my mind.

- Jo-Anne McArthur

THE GHOSTS IN OUR MACHINE illuminates the lives of individual animals living within and rescued from the machine of our modern world.

The moral question is posed: Are non-human animals property to be owned and used, or are they sentient beings deserving of rights?
